John L. Lewis Wants Program Junked

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN
WASHINGTON—(P)—Mounting pressure from many sides today made still more uncertain the post-June 30th shape of the government's economic controls program.

President Truman wants it broadened. Labor generally wants prices and rent rolled back and wages geared to living costs. Civilian industry thinks more materials should be pushed one way; defense industry, another.

Complaints On All Sides

John L. Lewis favors scrapping all wage and price controls. Farmers and stockraisers are complaining. So are city dwellers. Some congressmen think present controls are too broad; others, too narrow.

Leaders of the Senate banking committee predict Mr. Truman will get some—but not all—of the new powers he seeks under an extension of the defense production act.

It expires June 30 unless Congress extends it. Heated hearings are under way in House and Senate banking committees.

Meanwhile, the wage stabilization program is due for a drastic

Transit Strike Issue In Court

Detroit Tieup Runs Into Second Month

DETROIT—(P)—A challenge by Mayor Albert E. Cobo for a "return-to-work" election by the city's 3,500 striking streetcar and bus drivers confronted the AFL union leaders today as the strike headed into its second month.

Cobo charged last night in a television program, in which he issued the challenge, that rank and file unionists had been tricked into the strike.

Judge Ira W. Jayne was to confer with Department of Street Railways (DSR) and union attorneys on peace moves in the walk-out that has left one million Motor City residents without public transportation.

The city, operators of the DSR system, has asked the court for an injunction to prevent the 3,500 strikers from interfering with any attempts to restore service.

The strikers, members of division 26, AFL Street Car and Bus Operators Union, are fighting the move. They have said that street cars and buses will operate in Detroit only under union conditions.

Judge Jayne also has before him a taxpayers' suit, asking that the state's Hutchinson Act, biggest stumbling block in the way of a settlement, be set aside until it can be tested in court.

The act forbids strikes in public utilities. It has been invoked against the strikers, and most of them have been notified of their discharge. They can be rehired only with loss of pay increase and seniority rights.

Truman Will Request 2 Billion For ECA

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman said today he expects in the next two or three days to ask Congress for slightly more than $2,000,000,000 for ECA plus additional billions for economic and military aid to United States Allies.

MacArthur Dispute Kept Boiling; Senate Recalls Gen. Bradley

WASHINGTON—(P)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley told Senators today the joint chiefs of staff recommended dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur because he was "not in sympathy" with Korean war plans.

Testifying at hearings by the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees on MacArthur's ouster as Pacific commander, Bradley listed these reasons why the military high command approved the removal:

1. MacArthur's public statements and communications "indicated that he was not in sympathy with the decision to try to limit conflict to Korea." He said this would make it difficult for MacArthur to carry out directives, adding: "It was necessary to have a commander more responsible to control from Washington."

2. MacArthur "had failed to comply with the presidential directive to clear statements on policy before making such statements public."

Bradley said the Pacific commander also had taken independent action in proposing to negotiate directly with the enemy field commander for an armistice "and had made that statement public despite the fact that he knew the president had such a proposal under consideration from a governmental level."

3. The joint chiefs of staff "have felt and feel now that the military must be controlled by civilian authority in this country."

Bradley took the attitude that his worth as a confidential adviser to the president would be destroyed if he did tell what was said in conferences on the question of removing MacArthur from his far eastern commands.

By a vote of 18 to 8, the combined Senate armed services and foreign relations committees decided last Thursday that Bradley did not have to relate what he said at the White House meeting.

Over the weekend, new differences kept the MacArthur dispute boiling.

Swimming Takes Toll In Michigan Over Week End

Traffic Accidents Fatal To Seven

(By The Associated Press)

Summery weather began luring people to Michigan's lakes and streams and six drownings were recorded over the weekend in the state's toll of 18 accidental deaths.

Traffic accidents took seven lives. Two persons burned to death. One man died in a plane crash. A boy was struck and killed by a train. A little girl was killed in a freak accident by a golf club.

Drownings included: Teofilo Figueroa, 26, drowned in the lagoon of Richard park in Muskegon. He apparently became entangled in sub-surface weeds while attempting to swim from a raft to shore.

Drowning Near Newberry Robert Yarger, 13, drowned in a canal near his home in Jackson. He was playing with friends in celebration of his 13th birthday.

Lorenz C. Stark, 40, plant foreman of Michigan Bakeries at Petoskey, drowned in Sucker lake near Newberry where he had gone fishing.

John Sperry, 27, of Detroit, drowned in Torch lake near Charlevoix after his canoe tipped over.

Edward Horger, 38, of Chesaning, and his son, Donald, 8, drowned in Muskegon river after a small, outboard-powered boat overturned six miles above Temple.

Car Plunges In River Traffic fatalities included: Mabel Robinson, 11, was killed when struck by a car in Ridge.

RUNS FOR SENATE — Auditor General John M. Martin, Jr., (above) 41-year-old Grand Rapids resident, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate, the first in the field.

Martin, who entered Michigan politics in 1948 by election to the state senate and was promoted to auditor general in 1950, helped organize and for a time headed the federal office of Civil Defense in Washington, D. C. During world war II, he later entered the navy and served in the Foreign Secret Service, leaving the navy in 1945 with the rank of lieutenant commander.

The Reds threw 125,000 men at his sector in their second spring offensive, Almond said. The first Red all-out smash began April 22 and bogged down at the end of 10 days.

In their new drive, the Reds fell before the tremendous fire power of U. N. artillery, planes and automatic weapons... were trapped on barbed wire entanglements... blown up by mines.

Still In Good Shape The enemy "may be getting ready to strike again," Almond said, "and if he does we are prepared to meet him."

Briefing officers said the division's position was "still dangerous." But Chinese assaults dwindled during the night to six probing attacks on the lengthy east-central front held by the second division. All were beaten back.

Pressure diminished all along the front Monday morning, the Eighth army said.

Big Communist Offensive Bogs Down In 10 Days

Americans Confident Of Stopping Enemy

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO—(P)—Red commandos sacrificed 48,341 troops in a futile five-day attempt to break through the Allied east-central front in Korea, Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond said today.

The Tenth corps commander, whose troops man that front, said Sunday's Red casualties were 24,700 killed and wounded. That is the biggest one-day total of the war.

Second Division Scores Most of the Red casualties were inflicted by the U. S. Second division, which the Communists set out to destroy. The Eighth army said the Second division killed or wounded 37,750 Reds in five days.

"We've taken the starch out of the offensive," Almond said. "And I feel certain that if they come at us in even greater numbers we can handle them again."

Lansing Lawmakers Race Against Clock For Friday Windup

LANSING—(P)—Michigan's legislature will race the clock to adjournment this week.

Under a delayed-action adjournment system put into effect weeks ago, the lawmakers must end their sessions Friday at midnight.

Having dug themselves out from under a pile of more than 200 bills in the past two weeks, the lawmakers have less than 40 measures still to consider—but these are the hardest nuts of all to crack.

Budget First Job Number one is the budget and that is not expected out of the senate appropriations committee until about Thursday. Number two is taxes, how much and what kind. Number three is that old perennial of this year, the gasoline tax increase.

And then there is a revision of the Unemployment Compensation law, of liquor laws, of the primary election date, new powers for civil defense and pay raises for legislators.

Under the adjournment system the legislature will reconvene from a weekend recess tonight, and work through Wednesday. Thursday school is out while the leaders take a last look around and the budget gets a final polish. Friday is "the last day" and probably a long one.

Highway Funds Needed The lawmakers still must decide whether the rise the gasoline tax for highway improvements, and how much. They must decide whether to pass Governor Williams' corporation profits tax, to ease the general fund's steadily mounting deficit. They must decide whether to adopt such new taxes as the used car use tax, the industrial processing tax. They must decide whether to raise the ceiling and rates on the corporation privilege tax.

And most of all, they must decide how much money every state agency and purpose needs for another year—and whether these will get it.

Caucuses of the majority Republicans are expected early in the week to define the party line on those major questions and on political strategy.

May Handcuff Governor There are suggestions that the legislature "give Williams the $296,000,000 budget he recommended instead of passing its own $307,000,000—or more budget. There are suggestions that the legislature again refuse to adjourn Friday, but simply go into a continuing recess to keep the handcuffs on Williams.

The house has decreed another vote early this week on the 1.5-cent gas tax increase. Vetoed last week by Williams and defeated by a Democratic coalition. Many of the final decisions depend on the outcome of that second vote.

U. S. And Russia Split Over Jap Peace Pact

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(P)—The United States and Russia have reached a parting of the ways over preparation of a peace treaty for Japan.

The spread of their differences was spotlighted by an American charge that Moscow is "conniving at aggression" by proposing to deny to Japan adequate post-treaty defense arrangements.

Plan Goes Through An American note published last night made it clear this country is determined to go through with its plan of using American forces to help protect Japan against any threat of Communist aggression from Asia.

Moscow asked for a meeting in June or July of the foreign ministers of the United States, China, Britain and Russia to start work on a treaty and bring it to a "speedy conclusion."

The U. S. rejected this proposition outright on the ground that misuse of the veto power by Russia in such a four-nation meeting actually would work against early conclusion of a treaty and also would give "a secondary role" to nations "which bore a greater burden of the Pacific war than did the Soviet union." The note pointed out that Russia was at war with Japan for only six days.

Soviets Want Control The U. S. also declared that as far as Red China is concerned, this country "does not seek guidance from a convicted aggressor"—a reference to Communist China's activities in Korea—and made plain that it has no intention of doing so.

The heart of the 3,500-word American reply, however, was not so much concerned with the Russian proposal to scrap all that this country, Britain and a dozen other nations have already done on a Japanese treaty and start over. It was concerned more with the defense of Japan after Japanese independence is restored.

Jet Plane Suction Takes Life Of Pilot WESTOVER AIRFORCE BASE, Mass.—(P)—An airforce pilot was killed yesterday when the powerful suction of a jet plane air scoop pulled him into the mechanism.

Dead was Lt. Thomas A. Kirkes, 26, of Lawton, Okla.

An airforce spokesman said Kirkes had walked in front of an F-86 fighter plane. The accident happened shortly before thousands gathered at the field to watch an armed forces day air show.

Czar Of Crime Adonis Asks Mercy Of Court HACKENSACK, N. J.—(P)—Joe Adonis, labeled one of the nation's seven czars of crime, pleaded no defense today to a series of New Jersey gambling charges, and threw himself on the mercy of the court.

Walleye Pike Season Opens

Catches Reported
Light This Morning

Walleye pike fishermen had only fair success on the opening day of the season, according to reports received from conservation officers this noon.

John Chriske, Escanaba, district supervisor of the Michigan Conservation department, reported the waters of Big and Little Bays de Noc were calm all morning. Catches up to noon were light, however. Better fishing is expected later this week.

About fifty boats were counted on Big Bay de Noc and each boat had no more than two or three fish when inspected this morning. About forty boats were sighted on Little Bay de Noc at Masonville.

The new conservation department patrol boat No. 19 was stationed at the head of the bay and radioed reports on fishing success to the conservation headquarters. Patrol boat No. 2 went out to observe the pulling up of nets by commercial fishermen this afternoon.

Mel Ellis, outdoors writer of the Milwaukee Journal, arrived in Escanaba this morning to gather material for stories on walleye and brook trout fishing. Ellis said he had received an unprecedented number of inquiries about fishing in the Escanaba area this spring.

Strike Vote Taken By Lied's Workers

Lied's dairy plant employees of Escanaba and Gladstone Friday voted to strike in an election conducted by the labor mediation board Friday at 2 p. m.

Eight employees, truck drivers and inside workers, members of Teamsters & Chauffeurs Local 328, A. F. L., are involved. The vote was six yes, one no, and one vote of an employee said to be in supervisory capacity was challenged.

Arnold Alsten, union representative, said the union filed claim of representation on April 14.

Union shop, wages, holiday pay and other issues were up for discussion. Alsten said the strike vote followed an impasse in negotiations. The employees continue on the job today and no further meeting is scheduled at present.

Hong Kong is a British crown colony.

U. P. Indians Support Claims Against U. S.; Witnesses Heard Today

Testimony in support of claims by Chippewa Indians of the Upper Peninsula against the United States that they were underpaid in ceding the western half of the U. P. to the government in a treaty of 1842 was being heard today in Escanaba.

Louis J. O'Marr, Washington, D. C., of the Indian Claims Commission, is presiding at the hearing in the court house.

The hearing is expected to continue through today and into tomorrow.

Includes Vast Area
Witnesses are being heard here in the last of several hearings that have been held at various points from Bemidji, Minn., to Ashland, Wis., and Escanaba.

The total area involved in the Indian claims extends from the Red River in Minnesota, and comprises northern Minnesota, Wisconsin, and the western half of the Upper Peninsula.

Once completely in possession of the Indians, the government by treaties with them obtained ownership beginning more than a century ago. Prior to the treaties the whites had been encroaching upon the area, making use of them in disregard of prior treaties and provisions of an ordinance of 1837 whereby the rights of the Indians were to be protected.

Escanaba Boundary
The Upper Peninsula Chippewa from Escanaba river westward ceded their lands to the government in a treaty made Oct. 4, 1842, at LaPointe on Lake Superior.

Approximately 15 million acres in the northern portion of what is now the states of Michigan and Wisconsin were ceded to the U. S.

This area had the starting point of its description at the mouth of the Chocolate river near Marquette, thence north and west across northern Wisconsin to another Indian treaty line. The southern line of the area described was from the Wisconsin river eastward along an earlier boundary line between the Chippewas and Menominees to "the Skonawby River of Green Bay."

From Escanaba the line followed up-river to the Chocolate river north across the Upper Peninsula to Lake Superior.

Six Cents An Acre
It is the claim of the Indians in their action now before the Indian Claims Commission that the Indians exclusively owned and occupied the area prior to the arrival of the whites.

The consideration promised to be paid by the U. S. government was a total of $875,000, less than six cents per acre.

The Indians in their present claim point out that the government "had knowledge of the real value of said lands and that the same contained deposits of copper and iron and that they were worth in excess of $10 per acre."

Part of the lands were fertile and suitable for agriculture, the Indians claim.

Among The Plaintiffs
The Indians plaintiff in the suit before the Indian Claims Commission include a dozen or more representing bands and groups of Indians from Minnesota to Michigan.

Charles Picard, 76, of L'Anse, president of the Keweenaw Bay Community Council, is in Escanaba to testify in connection with the claims. One of the original signers of the 1842 treaty was a Chippewa chief, great-grandfather of Picard.

Another witness from L'Anse will be George Pine, 86-year-old Chippewa, who was engaged in timber cruising for many years.

Witnesses called by counsel for the Indians to testify included several persons who knew Upper Peninsula timber values of an earlier day.

Tells Of Timber Stands
First witness for the plaintiffs' this morning was Sheriff William E. Miron of Delta county, who was born at Chassel and began work as a timber cruiser at an early age. His father was engaged in lumbering in the Copper Country.

Sim, T. Carmen, Washington, D. C., objected to testimony by Miron because his knowledge of timber conditions began about 1914, some

Lt. Bartozek Of Perronville Called To Duty

Joseph A. Bartozek, of Perronville, first lieutenant, USAFR, has been recalled to active duty with the Air Force.

Lt. Bartozek has been assigned to Randolph Field, Texas, the "West Point of the Air." He will report to Mather Field, California on July 7, for 30 days' training, and will then return to Randolph Field.

Lt. Bartozek is a member of the Escanaba Volunteer Air Reserve Training Unit, attached to the 9660th VRS. He is the first member of the unit to receive active duty orders.

A bombardier during World War II with the Air Force, Lt. Bartozek's marriage to Miss Rose Mary Derocher will take place at St. George's church, Bark River, on June 2.

An electronic fuel gauge for the U. S. Air Forces measures gasoline in pounds rather than in gallons.

70 years after the treaty of 1842, Commissioner O'Marr overruled the objection and Miron testified further concerning the distribution of timber in that area of the Upper Peninsula.

David Downey, 92, old-time cruiser of Hermansville, and Guy Holmes of Menominee, with wide woods experience in the earlier days, also will be called as witnesses.

The Indians are presented here by Attorneys Jay Hoag and Clarence G. Lindquist of Duluth; G. Arthur Johnson of Ashland; Rodney J. Edwards of Superior; and Denis McGinn and James R. Fitzharris of Escanaba.

The V. F. W. Ladies Auxiliary and the Military Order of the Cootie, fun degree of the organization, will hold their annual conventions concurrently.

The three-day convention will open with a memorial service for deceased members Thursday, June 14, and run through Saturday. State officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars from Detroit conferred with local V. F. W. committee members at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce this morning concerning plans for the convention. Visiting officers were: Ray Yearwood, department contest director; Christie Braun, department quartermaster; and G. Edwin Slater, department commander.

New Treads Economical

Truck line operators were the first to realize the economies resulting from having new treads applied to worn tires, and now motorists generally are turning to Firestone's Factory-Method New Treads to obtain all the mileage that was built into today's automobile tire. Shortage of materials for civilian use is threatening a second tire shortage in a 10-year period, as the nation prepares to resist communist aggression over the world, but availability of Firestone New Treads will greatly lessen the inconvenience suffered during World War II as a result of the tire shortage. Improved compounding methods have given a longer wearing tread material which in many cases will give as much mileage as the original tread. Above workmen are removing a large heavy-duty truck tire from a curing mold in a Firestone New Tread shop. Passenger car owners now may obtain a special price on New Tread tires in sets of two, according to Mr. Verhagen, local Firestone Store Manager.

Wilbur Shaw thinks so much of this new Chrysler, he has selected it as Pace Car for the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

WILBUR SHAW, AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS DRIVER, DRIVES NEW 1951 CHRYSLER—REPORTS TO YOU ON REVOLUTIONARY FIREPOWER ENGINE AND HYDRAGUIDE POWER STEERING

Here are Wilbur Shaw's reactions—in his own words—as taken down by a recording machine in the car:

"The '51 Chrysler has it! With this new engine and power steering, the first on any U.S. car, it's a whale of an automobile."

"I'm completely bowled over by the ease of steering! This steering combined with the automatic transmission . . . is the nearest thing to an automatic pilot for a car I can possibly imagine."

"This engine . . . I can't get over the amount of power and snap in this engine . . . it's incredible! I drove 111 miles with the feeling I had expended no more effort than in driving around the block."

"When Mrs. Shaw drove, her comments just about squared with mine. Here's what she thinks of the 1951 Chrysler . . ."

Mrs. Shaw: "At first I could hardly believe the ease with which I could turn the wheel. That's important . . . especially in the summertime."

"Often after I have parked a car in the average parking space, I feel I should taxi home, shower and get dressed again. But with Hydraguide Power Steering I parked it with one hand. It practically drives itself."

Wilbur Shaw: "It's hard to describe this new Chrysler without going off the deep end . . . it has it in every department."

"In fact, I think so much of this car, I've selected it as Pace Car of the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race!" (Mr. Shaw's comments are reprinted through the courtesy of Popular Science Magazine.)

6 Are Injured In Car Mishaps

4 Victims Taken To Hospitals

Six persons were injured in automobile accidents in this area over the weekend, four of the injured victims requiring hospitalization.

Four persons were injured in a head-on collision on US-41, two miles south of Trenary Sunday afternoon. A car driven by Joyce Lahti, 19, of Skandia, struck a parked car driven by Mrs. Laura Brown, 29, Rt. 1, Rapid River.

Mrs. Brown sustained head and chest bruises and Loretta Brown, 13, sustained an injured right ankle and bruises. Joyce Lahti received head lacerations and chest bruises and Barbara Rydholm, Marquette, suffered arm and leg lacerations. Miss Lahti and Miss Rydholm were taken to St. Luke's hospital, Marquette.

Two At St. Francis

Mrs. Brown's car was parked on the west side of the pavement when the car was struck by the auto driven by Miss Lahti, who apparently dozed while she was driving. The car swerved across the pavement to strike the Brown car.

At 8:30 p. m., Sunday, a car driven by Ed Bartels, 64, of Munising ran into a car driven by Eli Constantino, 20, of Ensign, on US-2, two miles east of Ensign.

Bartels suffered a lacerated lip and body bruises and Grace Bartels, 59, sustained possible rib fractures and body bruises. Both were taken to St. Francis hospital, Escanaba.

State Police Investigate

In another accident Sunday, a car driven by Willard Blau, 31, of 528 North 21st street, Escanaba, was struck on the left rear by an oncoming car that failed to stop. No one was injured in this accident. All of the traffic mishaps were investigated by the state police of the Gladstone post.

Saginaw Parents Become Millionth AT&T Stockholder

NEW YORK — (AP) — A young Saginaw, Mich., automobile salesman and his wife were designated jointly Tuesday as the one millionth stockholder of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Brady Denton, received a stock certificate numbered 1,000,000 in a ceremony marking the first time in history that any business has had that many owners.

It was a big occasion in corporate finance and in the lives of the Dentons, who with two of their three children were flown to New York as guests of A. T. and T. for a week of observances and entertainment.

The stock certificate was presented by LeRoy A. Wilson, president of A. T. and T. which is the parent company of the 12-billion-dollar Bell system, world's largest private business enterprise.

Denton and his attractive brunette wife, Dorothy, recently bought seven shares of A. T. and T., which has more than 29 million shares outstanding, to start a college fund for their sons, Brady, jr., 6; Johnny, 3½, and

Military Training Controversy At Club Convention

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The death rate from Korean war casualties is reported to be the lowest ever recorded in military hospitals, thanks to the Army Medical Corps.

Maj. Gen. George E. Armstrong, deputy surgeon general of the U. S. Army, told a Philadelphia medical service reserve officers meeting.

"The evacuation hospital in Pusan hospitalized more casualties in the earlier phase of the war than any other hospital. When it was converted to a station hospital Dec. 18, 1950, the unit had admitted 31,612 patients, of whom only 114 or 36/100th of one per cent died of battle injuries."

Gen. Armstrong attributed this success to the army's ability to take surgeons so far forward that they can operate upon wounded men soon after injury.

Inflation is an enemy which wipes out our tanks, our guns, our planes as ruthlessly as any Chinese or North Korean army. And we suffer that loss ourselves without inflicting any corresponding loss on the enemy.—Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilizer.

Colorado Plateau Now World's Second Best Producer Of Uranium

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
BOULDER, Colo., — (AP) — The Colorado plateau today is the world's second-largest producer of uranium. Only the Belgian Congo is ahead.

Our uranium is a stunning achievement of free enterprise, with only second, third and fourth-rate natural resources. This story is in the files of the University of Colorado.

There is one disturbing prospect. Russia can do as well, if she uses slave labor as asserted, and maybe even if she doesn't. In Turkestan, Murnansk and the Caucasuses she had uranium possibilities already published long before the war.

Little People Help

The Colorado feat is the sum of thousands of little people plus the nation's top scientific brains and resources. The little people are prospectors—of whom scientists say "because they didn't know any better, they opened our eyes to new possibilities."

They include mamma on a Sunday picnic, taking along a sniffer (Geiger radioactivity detector). They include the keen eye of Paddy Martinez, New Mexico Navajo Indian. At a trading post he saw uranium ore samples and thought he could find more on Haystack mountain. He did and started a uranium bonanza.

The biggest job is scientific. Helicopters hover along cliffsides, looking for telltale colors or using radioactivity detectors. Planes map thousands of square miles with aerial photos. Other planes fly close to the ground pinpointing locations.

The U. S. Geological survey studies formations. It also is discovering uranium in minerals not previously known to contain the precious stuff. There are diamond drills, bulldozers and numerous mining companies. The U. S. Atomic Energy commission directs a policy that government money shall be spent mainly where private industry does not go.

Back To Dinosaurs

The Colorado plateau uranium is mostly in Sandstone formed in dinosaur days. Before the sand hardened to rock, underground water seeped through. Decaying vegetation made the water so acid that it dropped its dissolved uranium.

Observance Of Safety Rules Is Important In Walleye Trolling

THE walleye fishing season opens today and from now on through the summer months, hundreds of fishermen will troll Delta county waters for the walleyed pike.

It is appropriate, we believe, to call attention to the need for caution while fishing from rowboats. The sudden shifting of a person's weight can cause a boat to capsize, particularly if the water is choppy and the shift of weight coincides with a wave slapping the side of the boat. It is, of course, very dangerous to stand up in a rowboat and particularly so if the fisherman is unable to swim. One lurch and the fisherman can topple into the water.

As a standard practice, every person fishing from a rowboat should be equipped with a life preserver. They are relatively inexpensive. Boat liversies are required to have them available when renting boats.

Walleye trolling is a lot of fun and not dangerous when sensible precautions are taken. It can be tragic, though, if proper safety regulations are not observed.

The wise fisherman doesn't venture too far off shore if the prevailing wind is offshore and particularly if the wind is brisk. Under such conditions motor trouble can cause some real danger.

City Steam Plant's Position Is Improved

THE city steam utility has been the target of considerable criticism in recent years because of annual operating deficits but the present outlook for the steam plant is much more favorable.

The steam plant is at a break-even point now and is in a position to begin showing a profit if additional customers can be secured.

During the period in which the plant was under heavy attack, there was no encouragement for the securing of new customers because of uncertainty whether the city would remain in the steam business. The uncertainty no longer exists, not only because the steam plant's financial situation has improved but also because electric generation at the steam plant is anticipated in the future.

The city's electric consumption has increased tremendously within the past several years and further increases are likely in the future. The steam plant can provide some of this electric load by the installation of a steam turbine and generator. This would provide a new source of revenue for the steam plant and at the same time help to meet the electric supply problem.

Recent demands for abandonment of the steam utility are illogical in view of the conditions that now exist.

Graduation

By Gordon Martin

Graduation week is something that it didn't used to be, as the parents of the graduates will readily agree. For when Pop and Mom were ending high school days of long ago, it was not at all pretentious but a brief and modest show. Just a pair of youthful orators who very often said, that with courage they would go to meet the life that lay ahead.

Now there may have been a picnic or some other small affair, in the honor of the class before it scattered everywhere. But such simple entertainment can't compare in any way, to the round of gay activities the seniors know today. There's a party here, another there, and many dances too, and the kids are in a dither bidding high school days adieu.

Sister's needing not one special dress but maybe two or three, Junior's got to have the car and dough to court his chickadee. As for Pop and Mom they often get a chance to write some checks, and by time diplomas go around, they both are nervous wrecks. For a high school graduation isn't what it used to be, and where once it was a simple thing, its now a jubilee.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—At eight-thirty a. m. the other Sunday—which is early for most Washingtonians on a Sunday morning—President Truman finished reading New York's Sunday Times, picked up his pen and dashed off one of those famous personal letters which have reverberated around the world. This one went to price boss Mike DiSalle.

Eleven blocks away, DiSalle was busily wading through a mountain of correspondence on his desk, trying to get some work out of the way before attending nine o'clock mass. Just as DiSalle was leaving his office the telephone rang. The White House was calling.

"Please stand by, Mr. DiSalle," the operator said. "A messenger is bringing you a letter from President Truman."

Mike put the phone down and began to ponder. What had he done wrong? What might have aroused the ire of the president? Or was it that the president was accepting his resignation?

A few minutes later the letter arrived. Now in something of a sweat, Mike tore it open. Inside was a very short note written in the president's own hand on White House stationery. It read:

"Dear Mike:

"I have just read today's New York Times' story about your grand sense of humor. It gave me a lift.

"Since I've been in Washington I've seen many stuffed shirts, and your wise-cracks about Washington life remind me of how was used to use a trocar on a clovered bull. There's a loud explosion and the bull resumes his normal shape and usually recovers.

"Keep sticking 'em.

"Regards,

"Harry S. Truman."

DiSalle, a city boy and former mayor of Toledo, Ohio, rushed to a dictionary to look up the word "trocar." A trocar, he discovered, is a surgical spear sometimes used to release gas pressure in bloated cattle. By "clovered," the president doubtless referred to a bull which had become bloated from eating too much clover.

Note—What inspired the president's letter was a New York Times summary of DiSalle's wisecracks, some of them previously published in this column. Here are a few samples: When the president appointed DiSalle as price stabilizer, he said he wanted a man with plenty of guts. "You have him here," replied the rotund DiSalle, slapping his bay window. . . "My appointment has the unanimous approval of everyone in Toledo," the ex-mayor said on arriving in Washington. "Half of them were happy to see me move up, and the other half were happy to see me move out of town." . . A man applied for the job of postmaster and was reminded that he could not read. According to DiSalle, he replied: "I don't want to be assistant postmaster. I want to be postmaster."

REPUBLICAN DRIVE IN TEXAS
It is supposed to be a top political secret, but GOP strategists plan to use General MacArthur in the campaign to knock veteran Tom Connally of Texas out of the Senate.

MacArthur has already indicated to top Republicans that he will make a "non-political" speaking tour of Texas. And the Republicans expect to make political capital out of MacArthur's speeches to stampede Texas voters away from Texas Tom.

Inside fact is that the McCarthy wing of the Republican party has singled out Connally as their No. 1 senatorial target for 1952. They propose to hang Connally's political scalp alongside that of veteran Ex-Senator Tydings of Maryland, thus set a record of having defeated the chairman of the Senate armed services committee, Tydings, and the chairman of the foreign relations committee, Connally.

The campaign against Connally will follow the same pattern the McCarthyites used against Tydings. They will try to paint the gruff, outspoken Texan as a Communist appeaser and disciple of Secretary of State Acheson. They have already coined the slogan which is cropping up in Texas: "When Acheson coughs, Connally sneezes."

The truth is, Connally has always opposed Communism with all his Texas ire, has led the fight to halt the creeping Communism in Greece, in Western Europe, in Korea. At the same time, Connally has supported Acheson on most issues, and even brought Acheson to Texas and courageously introduced him to a Texas audience. As a result, the GOP strategy is to use Acheson's unpopularity to undermine a courageous senator.

All of this means that Connally is facing a fight for his political life, his first real opposition since 1928. Though a tough scrapper, the veteran Texan is still perplexed as how to fight back against a McCarthy campaign.

'AN EASTERN—WITH'

"Oh, East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet," wrote Kipling. We have often inferred that this applied to the West and East in the United States (usually designated as wild and efete, respectively) as well as to Britain and the Punjab.

But no more.

There is a certain sandwich, composed of a kind of junior-size ham omelet between covers, which Mississippi Valley menus list as a Denver or a St. Paul, but which, having migrated to Gotham or New England, becomes simply a "Western."

The other day we saw on a Back Bay menu the item, "Eastern sandwich." And fully assured that some nugget of profound wisdom would emerge, we asked as casually as possible, "What is the difference between an Eastern and a Western sandwich?"

"An Eastern," replied the waitress with complete self-possession, "is a Western without onions."

There you have it. For all practical purposes, or most, anyway, East and West have met. Only a small matter of onions keeps them apart.

Americans eat more than a billion and a half crackers a year. Be sure to shake out the bed sheets, mom!

War With Spain Is Classic Example Of How Hysteria Can Start Conflict

In recent weeks the nation has been worked into a bothersome, even perilous lather by the MacArthur controversy. Millions of Americans, including too many publicity mad senators, have been shrieking so strenuously about personalities that they forgot the one important issue: Avoiding a big war.

Such hysteria has caused wars before. A classic example is our war with Spain in 1898. The way we were led into that conflict is well worth sober study today.

On the eve of that struggle, the nation was not at all unanimous for war. The president himself, William McKinley, was against it. The most powerful political boss in the land, Mark Hanna—the man cartooned with dollar signs on his vest and accused of ruthless imperialism—was against it. Thomas Brackett Reed, the "czar" of the house and a potent figure in highest councils, was against the war strongly. He called it barbarous, outdated and unpredictable. Many leading Republicans (the party was then in power) and many of the foremost leaders of finance and industry wanted no part of a war with Spain.

Yet the war came, with an irresistible rush. How did it happen that the Cuban situation, which had been simmering along for decades without disturbing the big republic, came to a sudden boil in the late nineties?

An Old Story With A New Twist

Cuban insurrection and Spain's clumsy tyranny were an old story all through the 19th century. For generations, American leaders speculated quietly on taking over Cuba. John Quincy Adams, who was president in the 1820's, thought that "the annexation of Cuba to our republic will be indispensable to the continuance and integrity of our federal republic," but nothing was done about it.

In later decades Presidents Polk and Pierce urged the nation to purchase the island, and found no hearers. In the sixties and seventies, Cuban revolts flared persistently, and the Spaniards put them down with conspicuous brutality—but we did not get excited. Even in 1873, when an American ship, the Virginius, was captured on the high seas by Spaniards and 53 American sailors were slain—America did not clamor for war.

But the picture changed by the 1890's. The United States now had heavy economic interests in Cuba. Trade was more than $100,000,000 a year. Americans had fortunes invested in mining and sugar. Such operations were hampered by the disorders in the island.

And most important of all, "methods of journalism were increasingly sensational," the historians Samuel Eliot Morison and Henry Steele Commager point out. "Newspaper editors found that circulation responded to atrocity stories, and it became immensely profitable to exploit them. The New York World and the New York Journal, then engaged in a titanic struggle for circulation, were the worst offenders in the business of pandering to the popular taste for sensation, but they were by no means alone.

"For three years, from 1895 to 1898, this campaign of propaganda went on until at last the American people were brought to the point where they demanded intervention on behalf of 'humanity.'"

The Cuban revolt of 1895 was due largely to a drop in the sugar market and a deepening in the islanders' poverty. Their unrest was greedily exploited. A Cuban "junta" set up shop in New York to purvey bonds and propaganda. Despite neutrality laws, hundreds of filibustering trips were organized to bring supplies to the insurgents. Plantation owners urged the United States to "do something." When a Spanish warship fired at an American freighter, an Illinois senator demanded that we realize "the necessity of annexing some property."

There was considerable hubbub, but the stolid President Cleveland refused to be swayed. He insisted that we stay neutral and overrode a congress which sought to "recognize" the rebels.

President McKinley, who took office in 1897, had favored Cuban independence in his campaign. But he promised "no jingo nonsense," and he opposed annexing Cuba and other islands. Spain seemed to be trying reform. The notorious Gen. (Butcher) Weyler was ousted. In late 1897 McKinley had hopes that a more liberal regime would right the Cuban distresses.

But the sensational press would have none of such mollycoddling. Joseph Pulitzer's World and young William Randolph Hearst's Journal whipped up interest with continual stories of Spanish barbarities and atrocities and of the rebels' heroism. Most of the yarns were made out of whole cloth.

When the Cuban "junta" couldn't supply lurid enough tales, Hearst sent a special correspondent to Cuba. He wrote a thrilling story of a great battle between Spanish barbarians and heroic American volunteers. The whole American populace was excited. No such battle had taken place, however, and the Spaniards kicked the correspondent out.

Hearst sent the famed illustrator Frederic Remington to Cuba to draw pictures of the alleged fighting. Remington landed in Havana, journeyed into the interior of the island and saw nothing amiss except a plantation which the rebels had set afire. He cabled to New York:

"Everything is quiet. There is no trouble here. There will be no war. I wish to return."

You Furnish Pictures, I'll Furnish The War
To this, Hearst sent an immortal reply:

"Please remain. You furnish the pictures, and I'll furnish the war."

There were other lurid stories: The nation was told that Secretary of State John Sherman favored war with Spain because of "the murder of Americans." Fleets of the European powers were declared to be bombarding the Cuban insurgents. The reports were completely without basis.

The case of Evangelina Cisneros was played up extravagantly. Evangelina was the daughter of a Cuban rebel. When he was jailed, she asked to share his imprisonment, and the Spanish authorities blunderingly agreed.

Soon Evangelina was being described as a beautiful martyr facing the proverbial "fate worse than death" while in the clutches of bestial Spanish overlords. The Spanish minister to Washington, Enrique de Lome, protested that Evangelina was not being mistreated, but hundreds of thousands of women of America and Britain were induced to sign petitions for her release.

A Hearst man was sent to Cuba to rescue Evangelina. The feat proved surprisingly easy. She was not under guard in the rickety old jail, and the "rescuer" had only to knock a rusty grating off a window to lead her to freedom. The Hearst press went delirious with joy at this triumph. Miss Cisneros was taken to New York, where enormous demonstrations were staged in her behalf.

Another sensational journalistic coup involved a letter of Minister de Lome, who had dared to deny the stories about Evangelina. With the stupidity that characterized most of Spain's colonial activities, de Lome wrote an indiscreet private letter to a friend in Havana late in 1897, and sent it by regular post. The writer cited "the ingrained and inevitable coarseness" of President McKinley's message. He described the American president as "weak, a bidder for the admiration of the rabble, a common politician keeping on good terms with the jingoes."

He also spoke of the advantages of propaganda among the American senators, and of offering more business as a bait for amity.

The Cuban junta had many friends in the Havana post office. One of them stole the letter and sent it to New York, where it was held for several weeks, to await a dramatic time for publishing.

Early in February of 1898, the war fever was subsiding. Then de Lome's letter was splashed across the front page under the caption: "Worst Insult to the United States in Its History."

De Lome cabled his resignation—indeed, he cabled it twice to make sure of its reception at Madrid—as soon as the story broke, even before the American government had time to demand his recall.

The de Lome incident blew over in a few days, however. The non-sensational press decided that "no peril confronts our peace" and that "the de Lome incident must not be permitted to drag us into war."

Cause of Explosion Still a Mystery

The tension seemed to be easing—and then on Feb. 15, a week after the de Lome exposure, the American battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor, with a loss of 260 men. The cause of this explosion has never been determined. Whether it was done by the Spaniards or by insurgents wishing to start a war, or by American firebrands, or whether it was a mechanical mishap can never be known. Capt. Charles D. Sigbee of the Maine hinted that there must have been a plot which was not unknown by certain elements in New York.

At any rate, the Maine tragedy, following three years of lurid propaganda, drove the nation into conflict. It mattered not that Spain conceded everything to stave off the war, President McKinley, honestly seeking peace, had to bow before the storm. Congressmen threatened to unseat him if he did not yield.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

HIS SUCCESSOR—Judge Glenn W. Jackson is a successor to a long tradition of judicial wisdom as exemplified by Judge Frank A. Bell of Negaunee. We have observed both of these men on the bench in circuit court. They are similar in many desirable characteristics.

They believe in mingling compassion with their justice, and they are firm but never harsh.

It was Judge Bell himself who was fond of recalling an incident illustrating this characteristic. While in Escanaba for court (and probably while waiting for attorneys to complete their preparations) Judge Bell walked out on the ice of Bay de Noc and rapped on a fishing shanty door. Invited to enter, he found himself in the presence of a man he recognized as one he had sentenced to Marquette prison.

Judge Bell introduced himself nonetheless and the man replied: "No hard feelings, Judge, here—have a fish line."

So these two men, the jurist and that man whom he had sentenced, sat and talked and fished together on friendly terms.

THE SADDEST TASK—Friday afternoon, following completion of the Norton will hearing, and while the court room was still occupied by spectators, Judge Jackson began passing sentence on those who had pleaded guilty to criminal offenses earlier in the term.

It was the first time many of the spectators had witnessed a sentencing in court. They must have been impressed, as we have been so often, with the dignity and humanness a man must have to be a judge at a time like that.

A black haired youth, slim shoulders hunched inside his light jacket, stood before the bench.

"To sentence someone to prison is the saddest task I have," said Judge Jackson, looking down into the youth's face. "If you will behave yourself while you are there—"

THE LESSON LEARNED—The stillness in the room was broken only by the sound of the judge's voice.

A few seats ahead of me a woman in a black coat clutched a handkerchief to her face and sobbed quietly. The seat on her left was vacant. It was her son who stood before the judge. On her right sat another but older youth who put out his hand and touched her shoulder.

The young man before the court was sentenced and sat down in a chair within the area enclosed by a railing. From there he would be taken to jail—and then to prison. His mother and his brother walked quietly out of the court room without looking back.

From the front of the court room came the voice of another young man, who in response to the court's question if he had anything to say before being sentenced, murmured: "I have learned a lesson."

LOOKING AHEAD—Whatever lesson he had learned there would be augmented by lessons of discipline in the future, for he too was sentenced to prison.

"I'm sorry I am going to have to send you away," said Judge Jackson, "I do not think you are going to like it there, and I hope that you get so fed up on it that when you are out again you will behave yourself and will not have to return to this or any other court. Good luck to you."

In each case Judge Jackson mentioned the advantages, to them, of good behavior in prison and keeping to the straight path after release.

"For if you keep on, there will be nothing for you in life but disgrace and shame for your self and your family."

CRIME AND DRINK—In nearly every case there was an element of intoxication, and the judge warned those placed on probation terms they must not drink or frequent drinking places.

One woman, a mother, before being placed on probation was told sternly, "You are going to have to mend your ways." Although receiving aid for her children from the state, she frequents taverns, leaves her children without care. One child, an older boy, is now held for juvenile authorities.

This is her chance, the probation officer is her friend, and unless she behaves herself for three years she will be in greater trouble.

And to a second offense drunk driver, Judge Jackson was equally emphatic. "Leave intoxicating liquor alone entirely, in or out of drinking places." That for one year, "and I hope by that time you will never want to touch it again."

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby Jr.

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL ENGLISH

This comment from E. L. S. of Denver, is typical of scores received from time to time. "How can the word right be compared? You gave it as: right, righter, rightest. All my authorities say if a thing is right it can be no "righter."

The truth is, the whole matter of comparisons is confused and illogical. The word right (see Merriam-Webster's for "right, righter, rightest") is no more an absolute term than are true, false, straight, pure, white, black, still, dry, solid. Can anything be truer than true, false than false, straighter than straight, purer than pure, etc.? Yet all the foregoing words are compared thus: true, truer, truest; straight, straighter, straightest.

But many other such words are not compared by -er and -est. The word honest, for example, is compared by more, most, less, least, as: He is more honest than she is. However, as a matter of cold logic, if "more honest" doesn't mean "honester" (an incorrect form), what in the world does it mean?

To say that a word like perfect is absolute and cannot be compared for the reason that if a thing is perfect, it is perfect, and that ends the matter, is nonsense, for the word IS compared, thus: more nearly perfect, which actually means that it is not perfect at all.

Delta County Men Fighting On Korean Front

WITH THE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION, U. S. Army in Korea—(Delayed)—Two men from the Escanaba area are on the Korean front fighting with 61st Field Artillery Battalion.

They are: Private Ralph F. Cook, of 219 N. 13th St., Escanaba and Private First Class George Robere, son of Mrs. Angeline Robere, of Garden.

Their battalion has lobbed more than 100,000 high explosive 105-millimeter shells into the Communist forces, killing 10,000 Reds and wounding another estimated 40,000 in more than nine months of rugged fighting.

The 61st Artillery, which is one of four howitzer units in the 1st Cavalry Division, was the unit that once fought in front of American infantry and repulsed a powerful enemy attack.

Near Pakchon in North Korea, the 500-man battalion was ahead of friendly infantry, preparing to bombard Communist positions, when a huge Red force swept down on the gun positions.

Cooks, clerks and mechanics dug in around the guns and fought a vicious battle against an estimated 2,000-man Communist attacking force.

The Michigan soldiers' battalion functions in Korea on the credo of "Infantrymen as well as Artillerymen." There have been num-

Radioactive Frog Fizzles As Jumper In California Fete

ANGEL'S CAMP, Calif.—(AP)—Two Tennessee technicians are still unconvinced that atomic energy won't make a good frog propellant.

But their first a-frog fizzled dismally yesterday.

Leaptron, pre-charged with radioactive iodine, managed only a feeble leap, far behind the 15-foot, 6-inch winning jump of California-bred and non-atomic Perfect Circle.

Williams reappointed W. G. Armstrong of Niles, master of the State Grange and member of the state board of agriculture, to the Michigan tourist council for a five-year term.

The governor also reappointed four members of the board of managers of the state fair. They are: Sidney Smith of Lake Orion, Charles J. Wartman of Detroit, Peter L. Buback of Detroit, and Joseph M. Kurka, Jr., of Ovid.

Big Springs, Neb. Cut Off By Flood

BIG SPRINGS, Neb. — (P)—Rehabilitation got under way in earnest today as flood waters which covered the east end of Big Springs receded almost as fast as they came.

The town, however, remained cut off from the outside, except by emergency telephone. Several highway bridges are out and railroad service has been halted by washouts.

A seven inch downpour in an hour's time yesterday burst a railroad dike and sent a six foot wall of water into the eastern part of the town.

Fifteen families were evacuated by boat as the water seeped into the second stories. Three houses were washed off their foundations and a score of gardens ruined.

Saginaw Seeks City Income Tax

Court Order Asked To Block Election

SAGINAW, Mich. —(P)—The City of Saginaw has been ordered to show cause today why it should not be prohibited from holding an election tomorrow to determine if the city should have an income tax.

However, Mayor William R. Hart, hoping for a court O. K., called a special meeting of the city council today to vote on whether to override a veto by Governor Williams.

The city met its first block in its efforts to cope with financial problems when Governor Williams vetoed the proposed election on advice of attorney general Frank Millard.

Mayor Hart claimed he had eight votes of the nine-member council which must muster a three fifths majority to override a governor's veto.

But before the council could act two UAW-CIO leaders obtained a restraining order from circuit judge James E. O'Neill. The unionists, Malcolm G. House and Edward H. Corson, used arguments similar to Millard's in their petition.

Millard ruled the proposal did not conform to state law. He said it lumped three propositions into one question on the proposed ballot: 1. Levying a one per cent tax on individual incomes and business profits; 2. Disposal of the proceeds; and 3. Reduction of property taxes.

Packinghouse Union To Ask For Another Raise Next August

CHICAGO—(P)—The CIO Packinghouse workers—with a nine cents hourly government-approved wage boost already in hand—are going to seek another raise in August.

The Union Said Saturday that it will try to get wage increases under terms of its current contract and that Wage Stabilization Board approval of the nine-cents hike has nothing to do with the planned bid.

The current contract, expiring in August, 1952, can be re-opened August 11, 1951, on wages and matters not covered in the contract, the union said.

The WSB limited the nine cents raise to some 80,000 CIO members in four major companies. Some 35,000 others in independent packing houses were denied the raise and a union spokesman said they were "pretty mad."

But Big Fish Swims Toward Extinction

LOS ANGELES—(P)—Major surgery without anesthesia is a common practice in Russia, a British neurologist asserts.

Dr. MacDonald Critchley, director of the neurological institute, London, told the annual convention of the California Medical association Monday.

"I personally have witnessed major operations which were performed in Russia without the slightest use of any form of anesthesia. The patients betrayed not the slightest evidence that they felt any pain. There was no indication that these people had been hypnotized. It's possible their part-Oriental blood had something to do with the phenomenon."

He said he witnessed a major operation on a woman in Russia who was not even given a sedative.

"The woman bore the pain stoically. The surgeon, in reply to my questions, said it was a common practice. He said: 'We Russians are better able to stand pain than other races.'"

Other interesting findings about pain as reported by Dr. Critchley, an international authority, are:

Women stand pain better than men.

The more cultured and educated a person, the more sensitive to pain he becomes.

Severe pain may be overbalanced by exquisite pleasure—such as that the martyrs may have felt.

A few people appear to be born pain-proof. One attorney died at 56 without ever having experienced pain. When a finger required amputation he "just smiled and bit it off. The most famous case was that of a man who made his living by driving nails into his body. He tried to crucify himself before an audience, but had to stop when a score fainted."

Little Girl Missing, Believed Kidnaped At Buena Park, Calif.

SANTA ANA, Calif. —(P)—Search parties spread through the citrus groves, oil fields and farming areas of Orange county today in the hope of finding pig-tailed Patricia Jean Hull alive.

The 10-year-old girl has been missing since she went to a Saturday movie matinee.

Sheriff's Sergeant Russell Campbell announced the arrest of Henry Ford McCracken, 34, a musician. The officer said that under questioning McCracken told investigators he attended the same neighborhood theater Saturday afternoon.

Sergeant Campbell said McCracken has a record of sex offenses against children dating back to 1946. The sheriff's officer said bloodstained clothing was found in McCracken's living quarters in a motor court at the nearby town of Buena Park after he was arrested late yesterday. Patricia's home is in Buena Park.

Red China Purchasing Mission Watched By U. S. Police In Berlin

BERLIN —(P)—United States occupation authorities are taking steps to see that a Communist Chinese purchasing mission, now in Berlin, doesn't get any strategic materials in May order from West German manufacturers.

Berlin has long been a center of East-West smuggling.

Howard P. Jones, deputy director of the U. S. high commission office for Berlin said yesterday the steps include:

1. Roving military police patrols along the sector border.

2. Stricter documentation for all goods moving east.

3. Transfer of an M. P. customs unit to bolster anti-smuggling forces in west Berlin.

4. Closer inspection of trucks and goods at check points.

Jones said British, French and west Berlin city officials are co-operating.

Sen. O'Connor (D-Md.) said Saturday that the Chinese mission was in east Berlin to buy strategic supplies from West Germany.

The main Korean battlefield, manned by the second division, "was relatively quiet during the morning," an Eighth army spokesman said.

But Communists continued to mass by the thousands for a new assault at the heroic second division. The division was strung out across more than 20 miles after a brilliant tactical maneuver that closed a huge gap on its flank.

A U. S. 8th army briefing officer said that hole was "pretty well" plugged. But the Reds poured through another gap.

"The situation is still dangerous," the briefing officer said.

First Jet Ace

U. N. bombers concentrated on the second division's sector in the war's biggest night attack on the front lines. B-29 superforts and B-26 invaders cut up the Reds with 1,000 fragmentation bombs Sunday night. The air force said 250 tons of bombs were pinpointed in the attack by a new radar technique.

A big jet battle flared over northwestern Korea and produced the world's first jet ace. Three Russian-type MIG-15 jets were reported shot down in flames, one probably shot down and five damaged. None of 28 American F-28 Sabre jets which engaged 50 MIGs was reported hit.

The jet ace is Capt. James Jabara of Wichita, Kas. The 26-year-old airman sent two MIGs down in flames to run his total to six. Five kills make an ace. One MIG "disintegrated into a thousand pieces of flaming debris," he said, and the other spun down in a "whirl of fire."

Producers of copper, brass and copper base alloy products were instructed by the national production authority to start July 1 accepting defense orders up to 75 per cent of the amount of their January-March production.

This will leave civilian goods manufacturers of such items as refrigerators, radios and automobiles only 25 per cent of copper

Frigates Loaned Out To Russia Play Part In Korean Blockade

TOKYO—(AP)—Some frigates loaned to the Russians in World War II are playing a small but vital role in the United Nations war against the Communists in Korea.

The 1,436-ton escort bombardment ships are helping blockade North Korea's east and west coasts. Several frigates have taken part in the steady hammering of key rail and highway centers along the Communists' seacoast supply routes. Others helped evacuate allied troops and anti-Communist civilians from Wonsan and Hungnam last winter.

The frigates were loaned to the Soviet Union by the United States under the lend-lease program. They were returned after the war, badly run down. The navy completely reconditioned them.

As City Conducts
Loose Dog Drive

Matt Wiltz, veteran city employee, who works on occasion on the job of rounding up numerous dogs which are running at large in violation of a local ordinance, had the tables turned on him Saturday. One of the animals turned on him bit him in several places on his arm.

The animal will be held for ten days for observation and if the animal has not been claimed by the end of that period it will be destroyed. The dog was one of four picked up Saturday.

In an effort to end complaints about dogs running at large, city employees are sent out a number of times each week to round up dogs running at large.

Poppy Days To
Be ObservedSell Memorial Flowers
Friday, Saturday

Poppy Days will be observed in Gladstone next Friday and Saturday and distribution of the little memorial flowers will again be made under the direction of the Auxiliary to August Mattson Post, American Legion, with Mrs. Louis Hillewaert as chairman.

Assisting will be members of the Senior Girl Scout troop and several other girl scouts.

Wearing of a poppy next weekend may seem to have no connection with national defense, but to Mrs. Hillewaert, the chairman, the spirit of the poppy is important to the security of America. "More important than planes, tanks and guns is the patriotic spirit of the nation," she said, while helping prepare for the observance of Poppy Day. "The British army lost all its equipment at Dunkirk but England was not invaded. The Greeks overcame and hurled back the Italian invaders, vastly superior in equipment. What is inside the heart of a soldier counts more than the type of gun in his hands. The human element is of decisive importance, even in mechanized warfare."

"The poppy, which we will wear on Saturday in tribute to the men who gave their lives for America years ago, carries an inspiring message for America. It tells of highest patriotic sacrifice. It brings memories of the days when life itself was not considered too much to give for America, and when a nation was united in a spirit of patriotism which brought quick victory over the enemy. "That is the spirit we need in America today as we strive to build up our national defenses. If we all will wear our poppies with understanding of their meaning, I am sure they will help us reawaken the spirit of patriotism which made America invincible in the war of 1917 and 1918. United again in determination to serve for America, we need have no fear of foreign aggression."

IRAN—WORLD HOT SPOT—One of the most "inflammable" spots in a troubled world is the area highlighted on the Newsmap above. It includes the heart of the British oil concessions in Iran, around the Persian Gulf. Britain, facing the threat of Iranian nationalization of its oil, was recently reported ready to send troops to guard British lives and property around the big Iranian port of Abadan — site of the world's largest oil refinery. British government is reported delaying the troop movement for fear it might provoke Russia into marching into Iran under terms of a 1921 treaty. Such moves might easily touch off World War III.

Sgt. Donald Lamberg
Married In Germany

Staff Sergeant Donald E. Lamberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lamberg, 603 N. Tenth street, and Corporal Nancy Rae Beckett, member of the WAAF, daughter of Mrs. Ferol Beckett of Longmont, Colo., were united in a ceremony performed April 14 at Weisbaden, Germany.

The wedding was at 4 in the afternoon in the American chapel, the double ring ceremony being performed by Chaplain James Rogers.

The bride wore a green taffeta gown with white hat and shoes and carried white rainbow Bible with yellow orchid corsage. S-Sgt. Margaret M. Paul of Youngstown, Ohio, roommate of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in dark blue with white and blue accessories and her corsage was of yellow roses.

T/Sgt. Edward B. Heilig, Sacramento, Calif., gave the bride away and S/Sgt. Donald B. Seeko, Hoboken, N. J. was best man.

All men wore Air Force blues with white shirts and black bow ties.

Organist was Mrs. George Barrett, the chapel organist, who played the traditional wedding marches and when the couple was at the altar "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was graduated from the Pensacola (Fla) high school and previously had attended school in Longmont. She attended Colorado University and joined the Air Force in 1949 serving at Lackland, San Antonio, Texas; Chanute, Ill.; and Lowry, Denver, before being sent to Germany as a weather observer.

Sgt. Lamberg is a graduate of Gladstone high school and is serving currently with the weather detachment of the 60th Troop

Iron Mountain To Have 1952 Confab

Russell Kessler, of Iron Mountain, was elected president of the Upper Peninsula Elks association at the annual business meeting of the organization here Saturday, succeeding John W. Kelly, of Manistique. Kessler served as vice president of the association during the past year.

Other officers elected were William Kurien, of Negaunee, vice president; Peter Broulliere, of Iron Mountain, secretary-treasurer; and Harry Needham, of Escanaba, and Fred Foley, of Iron Mountain, trustees.

A. C. Wickley, of Hancock, was named district deputy northwest and Kelly was selected for district deputy northeast.

The 1951 fall round-up was awarded to Negaunee which also will have the annual convention in 1953. The 1952 convention will be held in Iron Mountain.

The Upper Peninsula Elks bowling tournament was given to Iron River.

Fred H. Hahne, retiring association secretary, and the new president were elected as delegates to represent the association at the state Elks convention in Detroit.

Nation Must Reappraise Freedom And Its Price, Grand Exalted Ruler Says

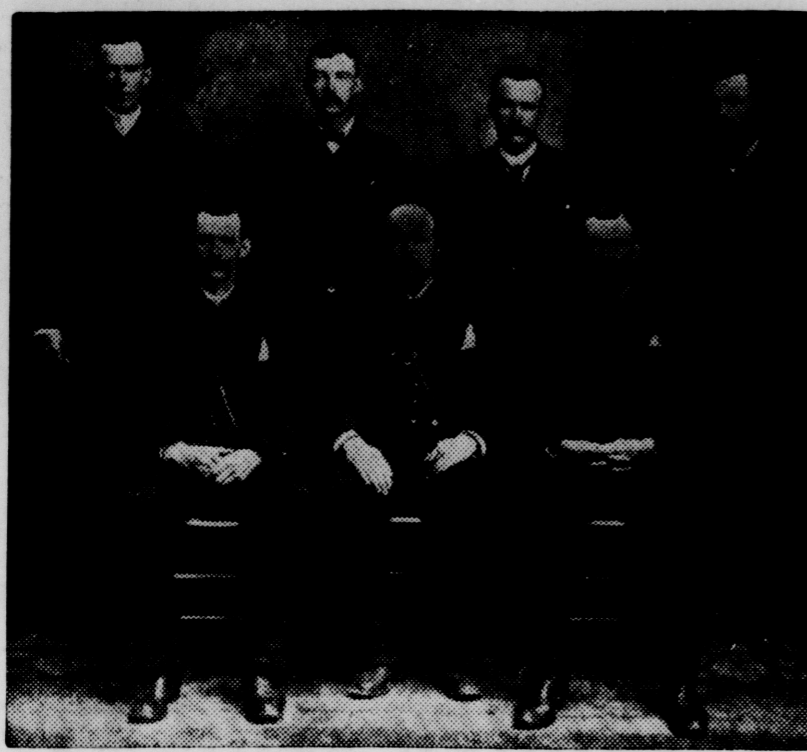

Now is the time to empty our minds of Fourth of July platitudes and ask ourselves whether freedom is worth the price, for the price is high, stated Joseph B. Kyle, of Gary, Ind., Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks, during his talk Saturday night at the Upper Peninsula Elks convention banquet program.

Citing the blood bath in Korea as being indicative of the price tag on liberty, the speaker said that during all of his travels this year he has been alerting Elks to their responsibilities to their country and their God.

In the face of the Soviet program of world conquest, the Korean war has awakened the nation to its peril, he pointed out, and a gigantic rearmament program is underway.

Need Soul-Searching—The current crisis should lead to a thorough soul-searching by Americans, he said, and a reappraisal of freedom and its price.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, he continued, should accept the challenge to freedom and by exemplifying its precepts of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity to help pilot America to greater physical and spiritual strength in the troubled times ahead.

Orr Brothers Leaders In Logging Days Here

(Editor's Note: This is the seventh in a series of articles on early days in the Manistique area.)

By W. S. CROWE

George "G.H." Orr was woods superintendent of the Chicago and Weston Lumber companies for 40 years, and president of the Chicago Lumbering company at his death in 1912. The "Orr Bros" partnership—Erastus, Burton, Walter, and Ed Brown—built the Orr block and had a meat business, cattle ranch and slaughter house. Fred was sheriff for four years, a busy office in those days, and Walter was village president in times when the "caucus" resembled a three ring circus or "battle royal." Abner, "Barn Boss," had charge of the C. L. barn, the Indian Lake farm, and about 300 heavy draft horses. There was no nepotism. If anything they were tougher in their business dealings among themselves than with others.

The book "Call it North Country" has this to say:

"George Orr was a lumber king who determined that evil should not flourish in his realm. To that end he and his company bought up most of the land in and near Manistique. Saloons and bagnios were denied housing. Manistique would be an island of purity amidst the hell towns in the pines. But Orr's agents overlooked a small parcel of land in the west end. Canny Dan Heffron snapped it up and opened a saloon, and over his saloon he maintained what have been called 'club rooms'.... Other free spirits joined him; soon the land that Dan Heffron had grabbed became the chief business section of Manistique. George Orr and his do-gooders are undone."

Cites Facts—And, "George Orr, thwarted at Manistique, would have loved Hermansville. The good people got the upper hand in the beginning and they never let go."

The facts. In 1893 when I came to Manistique, the saloons were confined mostly to the "flatiron" point between Pearl and Water streets entirely outside of "the chief business section." Dan Heffron had been arrested and convicted on a morals charge but escaped and fled for parts unknown and never came back. The Chicago Lumbering company dominated Manistique completely.

for the 40 years of their operations, and to say "George Orr and his do-gooders were undone" and that he was "thwarted" sounds silly to anyone who lived here in those days.

Furthermore, it was not George Orr, but the Wheelers and J. D. Mercereau who were principally responsible for this clause in C. L. company deeds: "It expressly declared that said premises shall never be used for... manufacturing, storing or selling intoxicating liquors, whether distilled or fermented, nor for a house or place of prostitution or assignation, nor for any business or occupation prohibited or punished by the law of the land; and if said premises or any part thereof shall at any time hereafter be so used, all rights... shall thereupon cease and be forfeited absolutely and forever, and said land and appurtenances shall thereupon revert to said party of the first part."

No Whiskey In Camps

As to whiskey in the camps or on the drives, George Orr was an absolute czar. The lumberjacks knew that any man caught with a jug or bottle on the job would never have another chance. In fact, most of them would have reported an offender, because no one knew better than the lumberjacks that, altho whiskey and women might mix off the job, whiskey didn't mix with double bitted axes, crosscut saws, falling logs, jammers and river driving. They worked in gangs of three and one man could jeopardize the whole gang.

Quick was just as adamant with the mill and yard men. In fact no employee in any capacity who mixed his drinks with his work could work for the C. L. or W. L. Cos., which was a factor in their remarkable non-accident record.

The only "bagnio" operated near Manistique was a "boarding house" known as the "Klondike" on the old State road to Garden near its junction with present M-94. The line of demarcation was sharply defined in those days.

The "ladies" from the "Klondike" dressed in the height of fashion, usually traveled in pairs when shopping in Manistique, never spoke or were spoken to by anyone on the streets, and were never seen entering a saloon. It was they, rather than the "good" people, who really needed protection.

A Klondike Lady

Shortly after the First National Bank opened in March, 1900, a well dressed lady came in and made a deposit. Mr. Teeple, assistant cashier, waited on her, and asked me: "Did you notice? That was Madame... from the Klondike." She rolled her stocking down and pulled out a roll of bills that would "choke a horse." We will not go into further details on this subject, as seems to be the modern fashion, but, like the "Gibson girl" of the "gay 90s," will leave something to the imagination.

To quote further: "In the 70s the real boom started. 'Bijah Weston' came from New York with his Weston Lumber company, and George Orr formed his powerful Chicago Lumber company; they battled sin together and made fortunes. The Jamestown men came in from New York, and Robert Dollar logged without notable success, gave his name to the town of Dollarville, and went on to the coast and a fortune in shipping... great lumber companies sprang up almost overnight... they cut out, and got out, leaving desolation behind them, and they cared not a damn for legalistic hair splitting ('to log a round forty' meant to cut the timber all around a forty-acre tract, and might involve cutting a lot of timber that belonged to somebody else.) Among the great companies were the I. Stephenson Company, the Bay de Noc Company, the Alger, Smith Company, and the Wisconsin Land and

Calumet Wins Elks Contest

4 Teams Take Part In Ritualistic Work

The Calumet Elks lodge won the Upper Peninsula ritualistic contest here Saturday afternoon, defeating four other competing lodges.

The contest was held at the Masonic temple as a feature of the annual Upper Peninsula Elks convention.

Calumet not only took top honors but members of its team also captured four of the five awards offered for individual proficiency. Menominee placed second, Iron Mountain third and Ishpeming fourth.

Individual winners were: James Aldrich, Calumet, exalted ruler; Tom Reed, Ishpeming, leading knight; Ralph Medland, Calumet, loyal knight; Don Bianci, Calumet, lecturing knight; and Nels Helstrom, Calumet, esquire.

The trophy was presented to the winning team by Ken Pavey, of Iron Mountain, ritualistic chairman, at the banquet program Saturday night.

4000 Baby Chickens Given Away Saturday

Four thousand baby chicks failed to meet demands at the Nelson Creamery Saturday morning, it is reported by Walter Nelson.

Over 500 families crowded the area in front of the feed department and formed a line nearly a block long. Two policemen were on hand to maintain order. The company gave baby chickens away as long as the supply lasted, each family getting 12. Assisting the store in the promotion was Cliff Peterson, of Iron Mountain, representing a feed company.

Steel which contains about 12 per cent of manganese becomes harder and tougher with severe usage.

Lumber Company "Misstatements"

All of which amounts to a direct accusation that the really big men in the industry were lawless thieves, utterly regardless of the rights of others. A more complete collection of misstatements could hardly be assembled.

"Bijah Weston did not come from New York with his Weston Lumber Company. George Orr had nothing whatever to do with 'forming' the 'powerful Chicago Lumber Company.' The 'Jamestown men' did not come from New York. Robert Dollar made a fortune logging in Michigan and on the Pacific coast before he went into the shipping business at the age of 57. (Mr. Wheeler once invited me to lunch at the Merchants Club in San Francisco where I met Capt. Dollar. A finer or more rugged man never lived. The Chinese preferred his word to most men's bond.) I never heard the expression 'to log a round forty' until I read this book, and the implication that the big men in the industry were lawless thieves is a vicious slander utterly without foundation.

Forgiving Needed

"Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us," calls for a mighty lot of forgiving on the part of the big lumbermen whose lands were trespassed upon a dozen times for every time they trespassed unintentionally upon the lands of others. Absolute proof of one instance is the piece of a big pine log stolen from the Chicago Lumbering Co now on display in the Manistique office of the Daily Press. The slanderers of writers who have labeled them as "Robber Barons" and "timber thieves" also needs some forgiving.

I have no quarrel with this young author. He is an entertaining writer, typical of a whole school of professional writers who can write but don't know what they are writing about, and so have to depend on hearsay, and who have overloaded the shelves in the past 20 years with a whole flood of misleading trash on technical subjects, mostly economics. They should stick to pure fiction instead of camouflaging it under an assumed title.

100 Percent Guard Attendance At Camp Grayling Is Sought

One hundred percent camp attendance is the 1951 field training goal of the Michigan National Guard, it is reported by Warrant Officer William Cowman, of the Manistique National Guard company.

With this objective in mind, he said, Brigadier General George C. Moran, the adjutant general, recently dispatched letters to chambers of commerce in all Michigan National Guard communities asking their assistance in arranging military leave for guardsmen.

Michigan's "Iron Fist" division and attached units will train August 11 to 25 at Camp Grayling.

"This year, more than ever, those 15 days of field training are of the utmost importance," General Moran told chambers of commerce in his letter. "For the past 10 months officers and men of the 46th division have been training intensively at home stations, spurred by the knowledge that their call to active military service may come at any time. Field training is the culmination of the past year's training program. It provides the only opportunity for Michigan Guardsmen to weld their division into a fighting organization."

In order to boost camp attendance to 100 percent, individual Guardsmen are urged to make early arrangements for military leave from their jobs during the period of August 11 to 25.

Many employers of Guardsmen already have established favorable military leave policies, Cowman reports. Some employers grant military leave with full pay in addition to regular vacations. Others allow their Guardsmen employees two weeks military leave, in addition to their regular vacations, and make up the difference between regular pay and Guard pay. Still others grant two weeks' military leave, in addition to regular vacations, without pay.

Escanaba Wins Class B Crown In Regional Track Meet Here

Shomin Stars for Eskymos; Alpha Is Class D-E Champ

Big Dick Shomin churned the cinders for three firsts and a second here Saturday to pace Escanaba to the class B regional track crown as 13 Eskymos qualified for the Upper Peninsula finals to be held on the Escanaba field next Saturday.

SHOMIN

Alpha captured the regional D-E title in a tight battle with Hermansville, defending U. P. champion. "Doc" ran, leaped and tossed himself to 18 points, highest individual total in the meet which was run off in perfect track weather. The Esky star wrapped up firsts in the high hurdles, broad jump and shot put and placed second in the low hurdles.

Mountaineer Depth Iron Mountain, without an individual star but with depth in all events, chased the Eskymos right down to the wire and finished with 39½ points to 43½ points for the host squad.

Stephenson was third with 29, Menominee fourth with 27 and Kingsford fifth with 15. Alpha ran up 62 points against 59 for Hermansville, 15 for Carney and two for Cooks.

Loren Wall, Menominee ace, edged Shomin in the low hurdles when the big Eskymo topped two hurdles to interrupt his stride considerably. Wall was clocked in 22 seconds flat.

Prokos, Zerbel Eskymo John Prokos climbed 11 feet in the pole vault to top the field by a wide margin. Dave Zerbel picked his way out of a heavy field in the 880 and raced home first in 2:08.6.

Iron Mountain's Jack Pozza fled home first in the first section of the 440 but was disqualified for body contact on the first turn. Goddard of Kingsford won the heat in 54.7. Loss of that victory actually cost the Mountaineers a point edge over Escanaba in the final tabulation.

Iron Mountain Tourney Site Softball Association Names Violetta Head

Iron Mountain was named site of the 1951 Upper Peninsula softball championship tournament at a meeting of the U. P. association held here yesterday.

Escanaba was awarded the district tournament for district No. 1, which includes Schoolcraft, Menominee and Delta counties.

Sec. J. Violetta, Ironwood, was named president of the association for the ensuing year. Buck Erickson, Iron Mountain, was elected vice president; Moose LaComb, Negaunee, second vice president; Keith Morin, Escanaba, secretary-treasurer.

Representatives from Iron Mountain, Escanaba, Soo, Ironwood and the Copper Country attended the annual spring meeting.

Commissioners Mario Pietrantonio of Iron Mountain and Rudolph Rezzatto, Ironwood, were named new district commissioners. Holdovers are Gordon O'Rourke, Copper Country; Walter Brown, Soo; Ed Stevens, Negaunee, and Paul Varigan, Escanaba.

The association announced that all Upper Peninsula teams must pay $3 registration fee to district commissioners or to George Grenholm of Escanaba by July 1.

Team rosters must be filed by July 1. No player may be added except to replace a player who has left for military service. The replacement must not be a player from another team, however.

Tennis, Golf Win For Esky Escanaba high school had a successful day of it Saturday. Besides copping class B honors in the regional track meet the Eskymos won meets from Menominee in tennis and golf.

The Esky netters beat the Maroons 5 to 1. In singles Fisher beat Palmer 2-6, 6-2 and 7-5. Noon beat Elchroth 6-1, 6-2. Olson bested Smith 4-6, 10-8 and 6-4.

In doubles matches Fisher and Noon topped Pinar and Smith 6-4 and 6-2. Peterson-Desilets beat Sharer-Rynning 6-2 and 6-4. Timms and Leguia of Escanaba lost to Anderson-Koch 7-5, 2-6 and 8-10.

The golf team topped Menominee 9 to 6. Al Martin won three points from Jim Beyer 88-91, Bob Jensen won one point from Bob Westoff 84-87, Clay Lindquist lost three to Jim Nelson 87-91, Jack Smith lost one to Don Murwin 92-93 and Stewart Jensen won three from Ron Johnson, 92-100.

Ben Nevis, highest peak in the British Isles, is 4,066 feet high.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

The disqualification of Mountaineer Jack Pozza in the first section of the 440-yard dash Saturday afternoon was an unfortunate circumstance for the Iron Mountain team. If Pozza, who came in first, had not disqualified himself on the first turn the Mountaineers would have won the meet from Escanaba. His first place would have added five points to the Mountaineer total for 44½ in the final standings. Escanaba would have dropped two points from its final total, finishing with 41½.

Pozza made his mistake by cutting in too sharply on the first turn. Without a full two-stride lead he veered to his left and jostled the runner in the next position. The infraction was clear and unmistakable and there could be no other decision but to disqualify the runner. It was a tough break for Pozza and the Iron Mountain team, but the rules are laid down for that very purpose, and the judges are placed at the turns to watch for just such possibilities. In track, as in all sports, you must obey the rules and win fairly or you lose.

With only 15 boys entered in the meet, Coaches Steve Baltic and Henry Wylie were more than pleased with their showing. The Eskymos qualified nine individuals and a relay entry in the U. P. finals here next Saturday. The individual qualifiers are Dick Shomin, John Prokos, Dave Zerbel, Bill Hay, Mert MacRae, Burt Krueger, Bill Fallmar, Bob Vadnais and Harlan Yelland. Members of the qualifying relay team are optional.

Credit should be given to Meet Manager George Ruwutch and his staff who ran off the affair without a hitch. The meet was concluded far ahead of schedule, ending at about 3:15 in the afternoon. Field events were completed in the morning, track events in the afternoon. The Eskymo officials will have an even bigger job on their hands next Saturday when approximately 300 boys from throughout the U. P. will compete in the finals.

Tigers Trim Red Sox; Evers Hits

BOSTON—(AP)—Just what are the Detroit Tigers going to do with a guy like Hoot Evers? The lanky outfielder, in the worst batting slump of his career, Sunday banged out a homer and a single as the Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 4.

The blows, which helped Hal Newhouse to his fourth win of the year, came just as it seemed that Evers might have to be benched.

But Manager Red Rolfe, who has kept him in the lineup despite a puny .125 average, decided to give him one more chance in the Boston park, known for its short left field.

On the basis of his showing, it might appear that Evers, a .323 hitter last year, finally had shaken off the jinx that practically has him talking to himself.

No Fluke Three times before, though, he has given the same impression, and each time has slipped back into the slump. Going into the Sunday game, he could claim hits in only seven of the 25 games to date.

There was nothing fluky about his Sunday homer, his third of the year. It came with the Tigers behind, 2 to 1, and smacked the ball over the 315-foot left field wall. Steve Souchock followed with another.

Pitcher Ray Scarborough, who followed Chuck Dobbs to the mound for Boston, gave up one more run to the Tigers in the sixth. The score then was tied at four all.

In the eighth, after Newhouse, Jerry Priddy, George Kell and Vic Wertz all had walked, Evers stepped in and hit a sharp single to left, scoring Priddy and Wertz.

The eighth Tiger run came in the ninth on Dick Kryhoski's long fly, scoring Joe Gingsberg, who had singled.

Manistique Wins League Opener

No-Hitter Tossed By Ted DeMars Of Cooks

MANISTIQUE — Behind one-hit pitching by Don Carlson, the Manistique Cardinals blanked Fayette, 4 to 0, in the Bay de Noc league opener here Sunday afternoon.

Besides holding Fayette to a solo hit, Carlson allowed only one walk, and aided his team's victory by blasting out a double and a triple.

The Cardinals pounced on Swanson's offerings for eight hits and no walks. Errors also proved costly to the visitors.

Garden blast Perkins 17-4 with a barrage of homers. Bodette, Tatrow and Lester clubbed four-baggers off Oman, who fanned 18. James Clement tossed for Garden, allowing six hits and fanning 10.

Trenary topped Rapid River 8-4 and Cooks shut out Cornell 12-0.

No-Hitter Ted DeMars, righthander from Manistique high school, turned in a no-hitter for Cooks. He fanned 14 and walked only two. In the first inning he allowed one runner to reach third but after that was never in trouble. The only ball Cornell got out of the infield was a foul fly caught by the left fielder.

LaCaptain allowed 15 hits from the Cornell mound. His battery mate was Kinneally. Swagart caught for Cooks.

Escanaba Club Tries New Plan System Worked Out For Twilight Play

Beginning tomorrow afternoon, a new plan of competition will be tried in the Escanaba Golf club twilight league, Jack Roote, sports committee chairman, announced this morning.

"We have reorganized into eight six-man teams which will compete on a rotating basis each Tuesday during the season," he said. "The No. 1 man will play other No. 1 men, No. 2 against No. 2, and so forth."

"All matches will be one-point handicap affairs with one point at stake in each to count toward the team result. Team standings will be kept and published weekly during the season. Each team will get two points for a win, one point for a tie and none for a loss."

Captains named, whose responsibility it is to contact each member of their respective teams to play each Tuesday, are as follows: Harry Hogan, Jack Roote, Elmer Swanson, Jim Fitzharris, John Pawcett, Jim Ward, Joe Poffenberger and Don Boyce. Pairings will be published tomorrow.

Twilight Play At Highland

Twilight league play will continue at Highland Golf club with regular pairings for three consecutive weeks, it was announced today by Whitney Dixon, chairman.

On the fourth Tuesday and each fourth Tuesday thereafter a special event pairing will be made under the direction of I. R. Peterson for which suitable prizes will be awarded.

Regular league play has been divided into three divisions on each league night to facilitate matching of partners. The afternoon golfers will start at 4 and 4:30, the twilight golfers will start at 5 and 5:30 and the night players starting at 6. Players are matched within their divisions as much as possible.

Pairings and handicaps will be posted on the club bulletin board. Dinner will follow league play.

DICK SHOMIN, Escanaba's high-point man in the regional track and field trials here Saturday, is pictured taking off on the second hurdle in the 180 lows. A fraction of a second after this picture was snapped Shomin's left foot caught the top of the hurdle and spilled it, throwing the Esky runner off stride. Loren Hofer, Menominee, in the fourth lane from the left, overtook Shomin and won the race in 22 seconds flat.

Shomin came in second although he also topped the next to the last hurdle. Lesandrini and Cloote of Iron Mountain are in the sixth and second lanes, Jacobs of Iron Mountain and Wesley of Kingsford in the fifth and sixth. (Daily Press Photo)
